Lodge Back in U.S. and Pulls for Scranton

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Cabot Lodge declared today that he considered it a higher duty for him to return home and fight for the Republican presidential nomination for Gov. William Scranton than to remain as U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam.

He told a White House news conference, after receiving a flowing farewell from President Johnson, that he felt the war in South Viet Nam was "on the track," while "I felt the Republican party is not on the track."

Affirming that he did not believe it was too late for Scranton to head off the front-running Sen. Barry Goldwater for his party's presidential nomination, Lodge strongly indicated he would attempt to enlist former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's active support for Scranton.

Lodge helped engineer Eisenhower's nomination in 1952. Lodge returned to a theme he had hammered upon his arrival four hours earlier, at Andrews Air Force Base — the duty of both political parties to nominate men who are prudent and not impulsive.

He said that the president of the United States is the man who makes the decision about the use of the atomic bomb. "That is something that is very real," he said.

"There is a threshold below which no party should go in nominating a man for the presidency," he emphasized.

"Both parties should nominate for president a man who is not impulsive or imprudent." Speaking at plane-side upon his return at 7:30 a.m. (EDT), Lodge declared flatly: "I cannot be drafted."

He said the whole point of his resigning the "very interesting" post in South Viet Nam was to come back and help Gov. William W. Scranton in his drive for the Republican nomination.

Burglars Hit Two Plants in the SPG

Two plants in the Proving Ground Industrial area were burglarized Saturday night, Ram Wood Ski Plant and Arkansas Boat and Tank Co.

The burglar broke a window at the boat firm, took a polaroid camera, an electric razor, a set of tires and wheels and a few dollars out of a cold drink box. The office desk was practically destroyed and office itself was littered.

At the Ram Wood firm the thieves took two guns and a fishing rod and reel. There, too, entrance was gained by breaking the glass pane in the door and the office desk was practically ruined and littered.

Dogs Used to Integrate Florida Beach

By PAUL WILLS

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — More than 200 state policemen, some holding dogs on leashes, escorted 30 civil rights demonstrators into the surf at St. Augustine Beach today.

The assault on this old city's racial barriers came as the possibility of a truce loomed in the long conflict between Negroes and whites.

Forming a wedge, the police broke through a line of 10 white segregationists and walked into the water in full uniform. There, they formed protection for the demonstrators.

The segregationists ran around the ring of officers, taunting and jeering. About 100 spectators on the beach joined in the clamor.

After about a 30-minute swim in heavy surf that made it difficult for police and demonstrators to stay on their feet, the integrationists retreated under guard.

There were no arrests.

A new effort to establish a biracial committee was reported nearing success, but it was unknown if the proposed group of two whites and two Negroes could accomplish much immediately.

Community leaders predicted that any group would have a difficult time because the middle ground has all but disappeared in the furious, month-long push for integration by Negroes and the equally determined resistance by whites.

There has been almost no communication between the two races for more than a week, following collapse of the first effort to find a settlement.

In the first fruitless attempt, a St. Johns County grand jury called for a 30-day truce in public demonstrations, after which a biracial committee would have been established. The Negro leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., rejected this and sought immediate formation of the committee.

The grand jury refused to negotiate along these lines.

The pace of demonstrations by both Negroes and whites was stepped up. Fist fights and other violence became a daily occurrence as integrationists were met on the beaches and city streets by fist-swinging whites. Gov. Farris Bryant clamped on a curfew to end public parades at night. That brought him into U.S. District Court faced with a possible contempt citation in a case to be decided Tuesday.

The climax to the violence came Thursday night when hundreds of whites brushed aside police guards and routed a Negro parade.

The outbreak brought the governor here the next day. He has been in the forefront in reopening lines of communication.

There were no public parades by either group Sunday but each held a meeting. Main cut attendance at the white rally. The Negroes held an indoor meeting and were told by a spokesman for King that a biracial committee would be watched closely and that integration efforts would be resumed if no progress was being made.

Trips and Drowns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say Charles Schaeffer, 76, went to his basement to fix a leaky pipe, tripped on a broken step, fell and struck his head against a cement wall. Then he collapsed, unconscious, in the three-inch-deep water from the leaking pipe.

He was dead when his wife found him lying face down in the water Sunday.

Motorists Are Questioned in Mississippi

By MICHAEL SMITH

PHILADELPHIA, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Highway Patrol and FBI agents questioned motorists at a roadblock today whether they knew anything about the three missing civil rights workers.

The latest report from the roadblock on Highway 21 about 12 miles northeast of Philadelphia, said no useful information had been obtained.

The roadblock was set up near where the civil rights workers burned out station wagon was found last Tuesday. Each driver was asked whether he knew anything about the disappearance, or whether he knew anyone who did.

Officers explained that the state highway is only lightly traveled and that some of the drivers who passed that area today might have passed there last Monday.

Authorities also probed a report that two young white men were seen standing beside a station wagon similar to the one used by the three civil rights workers shortly before they vanished eight days ago.

The widespread search for clues in the baffling disappearance of Michael Schwerner, 24; Andy Goodman, 20, both of New York; and James Chaney, 22, a Meridian Negro, continued in this red clay hill section of east-central Mississippi.

One hundred sailors from the Navy's airfield at Meridian rejoined the highway patrol and FBI to search west of this town of 5,000 as other officers dragged small lakes and streams.

Chief investigator Gwin Cole of the highway patrol said one witness had reported seeing a station wagon near a side road in the Bogue Chitto swamp near the spot where the burned vehicle used by the missing trio was found last Tuesday.

The witness, Cole said, spotted the station wagon and two men, whom he described as "of similar appearance" to Goodman and Schwerner, last Monday before noon.

At least six persons have told authorities they had passed the site around 11 a.m. last Monday and saw nothing.

Choctaw Indians confessed they stripped the hubcaps off the burned-out vehicle about 5 p.m. last Monday.

Some 275 more summer volunteer civil rights workers poured into this racially tense state over the weekend. Goodman had arrived the previous weekend in the advance guard of about 175 collegians from the north and west.

The students will work with the Council of Federated Organizations' Negro education and voter registration projects.

Bragging About Not Taking a Vacation in Years Can Be Real Boring to Friends

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Few people are more boring than those who brag they haven't taken a vacation in years. Actually, 85 per cent of U.S. families now enjoy an annual vacation.

Women can hear higher-pitched tones better than men — but not as well as dogs. One out of every 10 children, sooner or later in life, will be incapacitated by a mental illness.

Today's highly paid television entertainers might be startled to know that one of the highest fees ever paid a performer was the $60,000 that pianist Ignace Jan Paderewski received during the 1920s for a single concert at Madison Square Garden. That was in the era when money was worth money.

It is estimated that some 25,000 unqualified "psychological experts" rake in $775 million a year from gullible victims.

It isn't nagging wives who drive husbands to drink. A medical study of the wives of alcoholics and nonalcoholics found no marked differences in their temperaments.

Reappointment Plan Would Change Number of Votes But Maintain Representation

STAR CITY, Ark. (AP) — Lincoln County Rep. G. D. Smith Jr. proposed Saturday a reappointment plan which would give some counties more votes while maintaining representation for every county.

Under the proposal, intended only for the House, Pulaski County, largest by population, would get 49 votes. Perry County, smallest by population, would get one.

Each county would keep the same number of representatives. In cases where the number of votes allocated a county could not be divided evenly among the legislators, votes would be assigned on the basis of position number. The representative with the lower position number would have the greatest number of votes.

Smith said assignment of votes to a county would be based on the population of Perry County which has a population of about 5,000.

Allowing one vote for 5,000 persons, the populations of other counties would be divided by 5,000 for the number of votes it would have.

Thus, Pulaski County with a population of approximately 204,000, would have 49 votes divided among its 11 representatives.

Smith said that while the smaller counties would not have the strength they now have, they still would have a voice in the legislature.

"Under the only other plan advanced," he said, "at least 16 counties would have no voice at all."

He was referring to a proposal by Pulaski County Rep. Glenn Walther. Under his plan, 29 of the counties would be placed into 13 districts.

"It would be fairer to have a county under represented than to have no representation at all," Smith said.

He said he thought the proposal would stand up under testing in the courts, if it were approved by the legislature.

Smith did not have a plan for the state Senate, even though he U.S. Supreme Court ruling applied there also.

John Yancey of Little Rock, a candidate for a Pulaski County senate seat has contested apportionment of both chambers of the legislature in a suit filed recently.

Scattered Showers in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scattered showers have returned to Arkansas but the Weather Bureau foresees little rain except in isolated areas.

Hot and humid weather is in the forecast through Tuesday. Shower cells developed today in northwest and southeast Arkansas and scattered or isolated showers were forecast for the entire state through tonight.

Marianna recorded 7 inch of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. but most of the reporting stations showed no precipitation during the period.

Little Rock was the state's hot spot again Sunday with a high temperature reading of 100 degrees. Temperatures over the rest of the state were generally in the 90s with some reports in the high 80s from Northwest Arkansas.

Overnight minimum temperatures were generally in the high 60s and low 70s.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Byron Jones, a plumber, and Augustine C. Bass, a pipe fitter, both of Little Rock, won the United Association of Journeymen's state contest here Saturday. Jones and Bass, both fifth-year men in their fields, were awarded trips to the national journeymen's contest later this summer at Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.

Gambling Petition Is Filed Today

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Backers of legal gambling said that petitions for a legalizing constitutional amendment would be filed in Little Rock today.

The petitions would put the proposed amendment on the November general election ballot.

The amendment would legalize gambling in Hot Springs and Garland County only, and would place it under state control.

Casinos in the resort city shut down in March when Gov. Orval E. Faubus threatened to close them with State Police.

Faubus' action came after the House adopted a resolution 91-3 condemning illegal gambling as immoral.

Leaders in the petition campaign to legalize gambling said last week that enough signatures had been secured to put the proposal on the ballot.

The petitions must have 30,800 signatures, with signatures from at least five per cent of the qualified voters in 15 counties.

Escapee Found After 5 Hours

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Police spent a hectic five hours Sunday night chasing a 35-year-old woman who had walked away from the Benton Unit of the State Hospital.

Twice they thought they had her surrounded, but she escaped. They finally caught her hiding under a chicken coop behind a residence on U.S. 65 south.

Deputy Sheriff Jo eMartin told this story of the chase:

The hunt started about 9 p.m. when officers believed they had found the woman in an apartment house. She eluded them.

A short while later they moved in on her again in a motel on U.S. 65 south, but she climbed through a window and escaped again.

Martin said that after she was caught and jailed, she broke her spectacles and slashed her wrist. She was treated at a Conway hospital. Her injuries were not serious.

Martin and Ray Towell of the Conway Police Department returned the woman to the State Hospital today.

Rape Conviction Petition Heard

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal Judge Gordon E. Young will resume a hearing Thursday on the petition of Lonnie B. Mitchell Jr., 28, of El Dorado, for his release from a conviction for rape.

Mitchell, a Negro, was convicted April 1, 1959, in Union Circuit Court and sentenced to die. He contends that he was not adequately represented at his trial, that there was discrimination in selection of the jury and that the rape statute is not equally applied to whites and Negroes in Arkansas. He also contends that he was forced to give a confession.

Young started the hearing June 18, but recessed it until J. S. Thomas, El Dorado attorney who represented Mitchell at his trial, could testify.

Don't Exploit States Rights South Is Told

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton told Southern Republicans today "the honorable doctrine of states rights should not be used to set South against North, to set East against West, to set black man against white man."

The remarks were prepared for delivery in Atlanta.

Scranton, seeking to overtake Sen. Barry Goldwater for the GOP presidential nomination, said he looked for the day when Republican senators and congressmen represent "every state of the old Confederacy."

"But that day will not be brought closer by those who would cynically exploit the problems of the South — by those who would reopen old wounds by phony invocation of the Constitution or by comparison of the Federal Government of the United States with a police state dictatorship," Scranton de-

State GOPs Move Nearer Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Republican Party is moving its headquarters back to the Tower Building, where they were before a dispute arose between state Chairman William Spicer and Winthrop Rockefeller.

Spicer and the GOP national committee parted ways last August and the headquarters was moved to a hotel.

Mrs. Martha Townsend, party secretary, said the decision to move back to the Tower Building was made at a state executive committee meeting June 14. Spicer said he did not attend the session.

In another development, Spicer announced Saturday that Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton's aides had contacted him about the possibility of giving Arkansas votes to Scranton for the presidential nomination.

Spicer said he was asked about the Arkansas votes going to Scranton on both the first and second ballots during the national GOP convention in San Francisco. He said he referred the request to Rockefeller, "who is directing the delegation."

Rockefeller is chairman of the Arkansas delegation to the July 13 convention.

A Rockefeller aide said it was suggested to Scranton workers that they contact the Arkansas delegates individually. Most of the Arkansas delegates have pledged themselves to vote for Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

LBJ Says U.S. to Risk War to Keep Peace

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says the United States "must be prepared to risk war" to keep its freedom, yet ready to "seek just compromise" to achieve peace.

This was Johnson's keynote message Sunday as he ended a three-day trip into Michigan and Minnesota. He took up the matter of war and peace in his only nonpolitical speech of the trip, at a Swedish Day festival in Minneapolis.

Facing thousands of cheering Minnesotans who stood under shade trees in Minnehaha Park, Johnson said:

clared. Asked by a newsman if he was making an indirect reference to Goldwater, Scranton said, "No, I mean fanatics."

"Of course, we Republicans believe that the states should exercise maximum responsibilities," Scranton said in his address.

"But we also believe in federal responsibility."

Scranton came to Atlanta from Charlotte, N.C., where he met with about half of the state's Goldwater-favoring delegation. Of the 26 North Carolina delegates, 23 are personally committed to Goldwater.

J. Herman Saxon, state chairman, said he expected the others to line up also to the Arizona senator.

Scranton today launched a nine-state-cross country quest from Dalton, Pa., after asserting on television that his opponent lacks qualities for the high office.

From here he goes to Knoxville, Tenn.; Chicago, Salt Lake City, Utah; Seattle, Wash.; Eugene, Ore.; and North Dakota and South Dakota.

Addressing a national television audience from his Georgian-style mansion at Dalton Sunday night, Scranton listed three reasons why he didn't think Sen. Barry Goldwater ought to be the Republican candidate for president.

"In the first place it is clear that he lacks public support. Goldwater would run far behind President Johnson this November," Scranton said, citing public opinion polls made by him and by independent agencies.

Scranton added, "Goldwater has developed the unfortunate reputation of being impulsive with the great question of whether we shall have war or peace."

He said the Arizona senator complained that he is being misunderstood. This, said Scranton, "raises the question of how could he be expected to change were he president. The thought of the American chief executive constantly misunderstood by his fellow citizens, by our allies, and by our enemies, is not a comforting one."

"We need in the White House a leader who thinks clearly, who doesn't shoot from the hip, who understands that his every word and action will influence for better or for worse mankind's hopes and work for peace with freedom."

"The fact is that Sen. Goldwater has not shown these qualities."

"He has given every evidence of being a man who is seeking not to lead the Republican party, but to start a new political party of his own."

Scranton said that "of the 3 major positions taken by the Republican party in its 1960 platform, Sen. Goldwater has voted against every single one of them in the Senate. It would be amusing to hear the joke about electing Goldwater in '64—1964, that is—except that it has a tragic ring of truth to it."

The retiring ambassador was given a flag-waving, cheering sendoff when he left Saigon Sunday. About 7,000, many of them Buddhist school children, turned out to shout farewell to Lodge and his wife.

As thousands of Vietnamese and American flags fluttered in the bright sunlight, a spokesman for the crowd and the government read a brief address praising Lodge for his stand "against the oppression of Buddhists by the Ngo Dinh Diem regime."

Many of the flags were Buddhist emblems. The farewell address indirectly chided the United States for having supported the Diem regime for nine years, and expressed hope that Lodge's successor would continue his policies.

Pair Faces Charge of Robbery

PARAGOULD, Ark. (AP) —

Asst. Police Chief Lloyd Hill said a Michigan couple was charged Saturday with armed robbery in connection with the $498 holdup of the Marmaduke branch of a Paragould bank Friday.

Hill said Henry Wallace Ahlf, 40, of Wyandott, Mich., and Shirley Elaine Furman, 41, of Lincoln Park, Mich., were charged in Municipal Court here, and will face preliminary hearings this week.

They were held in Greene County Jail here.

Sheriff Woodrow Davidson, one of three officers who arrested the couple, said Ahlf told him he and Mrs. Furman came to Greene County to rob the branch bank. Davidson said Ahlf said they had "cased" the bank, a branch of the Securities Bank and Trust Co. of Paragould for two weeks.

A woman and man held up the branch and shut the teller, Mrs. Claudia Beaton in a vault. The teller tripped an alarm that alerted authorities.

Ahlf, a former resident of the Marmaduke area, and Mrs. Furman were arrested about 10 miles north of Marmaduke, about an hour and a half after

Tuesday, June 30

The Jett B. Graves Sunday School Class of the First Methodist Church will have their potluck supper Tuesday, June 30, at 7:30 p.m. at the Church.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Ben Edmonson, Mrs. Arch Wylie and Mrs. Fred McElroy.

Sunday School Class

Holds Family Picnic
A family picnic at Fair Park was enjoyed by the Mary and Martha Class at the First Methodist Church on Friday, June 26. Members of the class, their husbands and children, and guests totaled about 50.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Moore, Jr. Pretty daisies and caladium leaves decorated the picnic tables where the supper was eaten. After a delicious meal, the children played on the many types of equipment in the Kiddie Korral and the adults had a period of conversational fellowship.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Jamie Russell, Mrs. Van Wiggins, Mrs. Kinard Young, Mrs. Tom Waters, and Mrs. Bill Routon.

Ladies Bridge-Luncheon

At the Ladies Bridge-Luncheon held at the Hope Country Club Thursday, June 25, the mantle was decorated with several varieties of daylilies, the buffet table was centered with large white daisies, and button zinnias were used on the dessert table. A potluck luncheon was served to 20, including Mrs. Bob Kellam of Rogers and Miss Pam Gillean of Dallas. Bridge was played in the afternoon, and the high scorer was Mrs. Emmet Wassell. Mrs. W. C. Bramlett was second high, Mrs. H. C. Whitworth won the game prize, and Mrs. L. L. Webb received the consolation prize. Mrs. Bobby Osburn and Mrs. Walter Verhalen, Jr. were the hostesses.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Margaret Simms McDonal, Little Rock, has returned home after a recent visit with Mrs. B. C. Hyatt and Miss Annie Jean Walker.

Mrs. E. J. Whitman and Edwina went to the U of A this weekend where Edwina plans to do graduate study this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frazier and family returned home this weekend from a vacation trip to Florida.

Pole Crowds Cheer Wildly for Kennedy

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—Encouraged by wildly cheering Polish crowds, Robert F. Kennedy called on Communist Poland Sunday night to help promote the new thaw in the cold war.

The U.S. attorney general told Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki that Poland has a unique opportunity to supply a bridge of understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union. U.S. sources said Kennedy told Rapacki that Poland could play a key role in improving relations because of its membership in the Soviet bloc and the strong ties between the Polish and American peoples.

They met for dinner at Jablonna Palace, a former royal hunting lodge 10 miles from Warsaw. They also were believed to have discussed the German territories seized by Poland after World War II. The Western allies have not officially recognized these as permanent Polish territory.

The meeting followed a triumphant tour of Warsaw by the visiting American despite an official news blackout on his arrival.

Poland's official press and radio maintained silence on the visit, but word got around. An estimated 6,000 Poles jammed the narrow streets around St. John's Cathedral as Kennedy emerged from Mass.

Shouts of "Long live Kennedy" and "Long live America" greeted the attorney general, his wife, Ethel, and two sons as they rode through Warsaw streets.

"I am not running for president, but if I were, I wish you could all come to the United States to vote," Kennedy told a crowd in front of Warsaw University.

The Kennedy's sat on the roof of U.S. Ambassador John M. Cabot's limousine and waved when swelling crowds stopped the car. The roof partly caved in and they switched to another car.

Polish television carried the first news of Kennedy's Saturday arrival on Sunday night. Newspapers carried short descriptions of his activities to day, describing the visit as private.

Despite the press silence, temperatures in the 90s and a violent rainstorm, crowds surrounded Kennedy all day.

Clearly moved by the enthusiasm, Kennedy put off his departure until late Tuesday so he could visit Poland's Roman Catholic spiritual center at Czestochowa. He was expected to meet the primate of Poland, Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski.

Final Action on Rights Bill This Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House takes final congressional action on the civil rights bill this week as it pushes toward a recess in advance of the Republican National Convention.

The sweeping bill is slated for approval Wednesday or Thursday. Then it is to go to President Johnson's desk in time for a Fourth of July signing ceremony.

Ahead of civil rights on the House calendar is the annual foreign aid appropriations bill, which at $3.3 billion has been cut less than any previous bill. Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., defeated in his own subcommittee on efforts to slash it more, will take his fight to the House floor.

The Senate takes up Wednesday the federal pay raise bill, which raises many categories of federal workers' pay, including a big boost for congressmen and senators. The House bill gave members a $7,500 raise to $30,000 a year.

Also slated for Senate action are a proposal to expand the federal food stamp plan, several annual appropriation bills and extension of the federal highway program.

Senate and House conferees meet today to work out a compromise in excise tax bills. The Senate bill included repeal of taxes on such items as costume jewelry, handbags and cosmetics and reduction of others.

For example while a majority of Republicans in both houses of Congress voted for the civil rights bill, Goldwater voted against it. This may help him with some Southern Democrats but it angered some Republicans.

If they insist on a strong civil rights plank in the platform, it is possible Goldwater won't make an issue of it. He can explain that while he voted against the bill he would, as a presidential duty, enforce it if elected.

The platform problem may produce the convention's greatest heat.

"DEAR ABBY"

PETTY PEOPLE

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: Our 12-year-old son took our power lawn mower to his aunt's house, which is near us. He told her that her lawn needed cutting and he would be glad to cut it. She asked how much he charged, and he said he wouldn't charge her anything. She told him to go ahead. (They have close to one acre.) Just as he was finishing, his uncle came home and asked our boy if he had been paid for the job yet. He said he wasn't charging anything. Then his uncle FORCED two dollars on our son. This evening, the wife called me and said she thought it was pretty cheap of our son to accept the two dollars for a job he agreed to do for nothing. Then she reminded me for the fiftieth time of all the clothes her son had outgrown and she had given me for our son. What do you make of this? How should it be handled?

BURNED UP

Dear Burned: Auntie is "pretty cheap." And should she again offer you hand-me-downs, suggest that she make the Salvation Army or Good Will Industries the object of her generosity.

The House bill was confined to extending so-called Korean war temporary excises on auto parts, transportation fares and the like.

Dear Abby: Years ago my father was also faced with the problem of having the neighbor's chickens wander into our yard. This is how he solved it: He pierced tiny holes in dry corn kernels. Then, using a fine silk sewing thread, just long enough to reach the chicken's craw, he threaded each kernel of corn and attached a note to the other end of the thread. It read: "Please Keep Me Home. I feel foolish."

This didn't hurt the chickens, but they did look mighty silly walking around with those messages hanging from their beaks. The chickens never visited us again, and relations with our neighbors remained friendly.

L.S.H.
Dear L.S.U.: And there lies a moral: Never underestimate the power of corn.

Dear Abby: Back in 1905 my mother thought up a good way to keep the neighbor's chickens out of our yard. She soaked crusts of bread in Dad's corn liquor (much to his displeasure) and she scattered these crusts around our yard, where the chickens visited daily. The chickens came over as usual, ate their fill and promptly passed out just like humans all over our yard. My mother went out, picked them up and threw them back into their owners' yard. When the neighbors saw their chickens lying there like dead, they got the hint. No more chickens for mother. It was much cheaper than calling a lawyer, too.

EDNA

Parents' In Seattle: I regret that you misunderstood my reply to "Heartbreak." I did not, and would not, advocate automatic institutionalizing all mentally retarded. Nor did I imply that all mentally retarded are "dangerous."

Of America's 5 1/2 million retarded, only 210,000 are in institutions. Many are able to live happy, useful lives at home. Efforts are being made to educate parents of retarded children as to the nature of retardation, how it differs from mental illness, how limited the life of the retarded child will be, and how to help the child to accept these limitations. I hope that parents and neighbors of retarded children will write to the National Association for Retarded Children, 386 Park Avenue S. New York, for information concerning this vital problem. It is free.

Goldwater Continues to Lead Pack

WASHINGTON (AP)—The two leading candidates for the Republican presidential nomination plunge into the last two weeks of the pre-convention campaign today, still trying to line up convention delegates.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the front runner who can win on the first ballot if he keeps the delegates credited to him in an Associated Press survey, meets tonight with the big New Jersey delegation in Trenton.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, battling hard to forestall a first-ballot victory by Goldwater in hopes that he can win it himself on a later roll call, heads south today for chats with delegates from North Carolina.

olina, Georgia and Tennessee. Tuesday both men address the key Illinois delegation in Chicago.

The AP survey of the 1,300 delegates to the GOP convention starting July 13 in San Francisco showed this first-ballot breakdown based on primary election commitments, instructions, pledges and stated preferences:

Goldwater	689
Scranton	137
Nelson A. Rockefeller	105
Henry Cabot Lodge	45
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	6
Favorite sons	110
Uncommitted	201

The nomination requires 655 votes. None of the 137 listed for Scranton are bound to him. Of Goldwater's total, all are committed, instructed or pledged except some 251 delegates who say they favor the senator but are not necessarily bound to him.

These are the delegates from whom Scranton has been seeking support in his travels across the country.

We would like to thank our friends and neighbors for the many acts of kindnesses shown us during the sudden death of our son and brother. We especially thank those who gave us flowers, donations, food and services.

We shall never forget your thoughtfulness.

Sermons in Sweden Are Attacked

By JACK HERBERT

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—"Swedish sermons are boring, lack bite and organization. No one understands what the ministers mean, and their messages go right over the heads of the congregations and out over the vaults of the churches."

That is the gist of the attack the Rev. Eric Gronlund launches against his colleagues in the Swedish State Lutheran Church in his most recent book, "Can We Preach Better?"

Two years ago, Gronlund startled Sweden by publishing his own "Pop Talk" translation of the Bible, entitled "We Won, Mark Said." The aim of his version, he said then, was to make youth take an interest in the message of the Bible.

Now, however, Gronlund wants to improve the oral presentation of the gospel, perhaps with hope of bettering the nation's small attendance at church services.

In his new book, he maintains that Swedish sermons today are too abstract, incomprehensible, humorless and verbose.

Gronlund suggests creating a new, more interesting and stimulating style of preaching with everyday, down-to-earth language. He wants to discard completely the use of obscure and outdated allegories.

Advocating more services each Sunday, Gronlund also seeks to vary the kinds of services available in an effort to fill the pews.

"What I want to do is stir up a little dust among the preachers," Gronlund said. He also wants to see communications improved between the ministers and their congregations.

"The way it is now," he said, "it is too presumptuous of us to borrow half an hour of our people's time each week. They just sit quietly. We speak—but it is an one-sided communication."

Some other form of contact with the congregation is both important and necessary, preferably in connection with the service itself, Gronlund declares.

In his own parish, Gronlund sends out stenciled copies of his sermon a few days before the service. He solicits comments from his parishioners, and asks to hear what part of the text they would stress if they were delivering the sermon themselves.

In one chapter, Gronlund has summarized his criticism thusly: Sermons are too long, eliminate all unnecessary words and repetition. Confining oneself to the prepared text can mean losing contact with the congregation. This happens altogether too often, as does being too pompous on the pulpit.

Gronlund asked if anyone remembers when he last heard a congregation laugh during a sermon. He accuses Swedish ministers of being afraid to inject "little humor" into their sermons.

He also said it is wrong for the sermons to begin with the preconceived notion that God exists. "It's not so obvious any longer," stated Gronlund. Preachers ought to begin their

LBJ Heads Toward His Biggest Test

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, a man of highly competitive spirit mixed with endless and determined energy, heads into one of the biggest tests of his career.

This is with his own Democratic-run Congress. When he campaigns for election he will need a good record of domestic achievement to point to.

Congress, under his persistent prodding, has two major achievements to its credit so far this year: (1) A tax cut and (2) A civil rights bill which seems certain of passage.

But at a news conference this week he said there were about 30 bills he hoped to get through. To do all that Congress will have to work right up until early July, before the Republican convention begins, and then return and probably work until starts Aug. 24.

He suggested that from now on Congress work six days a week.

The Senate alone has a mountain of work piled up, the result of its months of debate on the civil rights bill, which it passed last Friday. Everything else got stalled until that job was done.

Johnson, a lot more persistent operator in pushing Congress for what he wants than President Kennedy was, telephones, buttonholes, confers, and otherwise unrelentingly puts the heat on.

But he never, if only because this is his first year in the presidency, came up against the problem in front of him now. He will need all his ingenuity to build his record.

Already one of his major programs—medical care for the aged—looks like it's probably dead for 1964. The House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday voted it down although giving preliminary approval to a 5 per cent boost in Social Security payments.

Now the only hope for medical care seems to lie with the Senate. Even if it should pass there, the House would have to be persuaded to go along. That would require a lot of persuading, perhaps more than Johnson can do.

It will be practically a miracle if it get through.

Yt, Johnson has had astonishing success so far with another program—foreign aid—in which all the presidents back to and including Harry S. Truman took a heavy beating.

For 16 years this was the routine: A president would ask a certain sum, in the billions, for foreign aid and Congress would chop hundreds of millions or a billion or more off it.

This was so routine it looked like a game: A president would ask far more than he expected to get in order to wind up, when the chopping was over, with about what he figured he could do with in the first place.

But Johnson asked for $3.5 billion this year—or $1 billion less than President Kennedy requested in 1963. Kennedy wound up with roughly $1.3 billion knocked off.

Johnson represented his request as a minimum figure and until now the House, which has not completed final action, has appeared willing to give him approximately what he asked

Medical Care Now Depends on Senate

By EDMOND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's chances of getting his medical care program now hinge on the Senate—and perhaps on his ability to persuade key House members later.

The President lost round one Wednesday when the House Ways and Means Committee shelved the Social Security health program.

The committee, however, did vote for a 5 per cent increase in cash payments to Social Security retirees.

If Congress acts promptly, passing the bill in July, the October pension checks could reflect the increase.

Social Security retirement now average $77 for an individual, with a top of $127. A wife 62 or older means an additional 50 per cent. A tax boost to pay for the increase would go into effect Jan. 1.

When members of the American Medical Association's House of Delegates meeting in San Francisco heard of the committee's decision against the plan they stood up and cheered.

The AMA has been one of the strongest and most vocal opponents of the medical care plan and its president, Dr. Thomas A. Welch, said, "We are confident that this decision is in keeping with the attitude of the majority of the American people."

Rep. Cecil R. King, D-Calif., co-author of the health plan, seized the initiative in shelving it when it was obvious that a vote would mean defeat.

As a result, if the House finally does get a medical care plan from the Senate, there will not be a record of committee rejection. King's motion was to confine the present bill to retirement matters.

Then, in what appeared on the surface to be a reversal of roles, Democratic liberals on the committee voted against a Republican move to make the Social Security retirement increase 6 per cent instead of 5 per cent. They defeated this move, 12 to 12—a tie loses under committee rules.

with comparatively minor cuts. The antipoverty program was among the 30 measures Johnson said he wanted action on.

Americans Cut Down on Smoking

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans cut down on their smoking by about 16 billion cigarettes since a government report linked health hazards to smoking, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The cut-back was 6.5 per cent below the first six months of last year.

The department said more cigarettes are now being smoked in the United States than in the period just after the report was released last Jan. 11, but probably not as many as before the report.

Meanwhile, cigars, pipes and roll-your-own cigarettes are becoming more popular. Sales of regular and small cigars are up about 12 per cent.

The department estimated cigarette consumption for the year ending June 30 at 507 billion—a drop of 2 per cent from the previous year.

"Data available thus far indicate that consumption dropped sharply following release of the (Jan. 11) report—probably 15 to 20 per cent. The severity of this decline has not persisted, but consumption has not recovered to the pre-report level. Whether or not cigarette use will resume the fairly strong upward trend that characterized the period 1955 through 1963 cannot be fore-

Business of Mussel Shells on Its Knees

By BILL RAWLINS

STEVENSON, Ala. (AP)—Lee Garner, whose Tennessee River mussel shells have buttoned dress shirts and spawned pearl necklaces for two decades, was clad in overalls—and on his knees.

Instead of one of his 40 outboard engines, Stevenson's mussel man was fixing a power lawn mower—and his position is symbolic.

Digging for mussels in the Tennessee, once a million dollar yearly industry providing jobs for 1,000 fishermen, also is on its knees. In the past 10 years, musseling slumped before the plastics industry, rose again with postwar Japan—and now is threatened with the disappearance of the oyster-like mussel itself.

"Something is getting into the river and killing all the mussels from Chattanooga to Savannah, Tenn.," says Garner, at 39 a grandfather who has been musseling since he was 18. "Things got so bad about a year ago that I bought myself a little hardware store in town."

That explains why Garner was fixing the lawn mower, instead of one of the engines powering his fleet of flat-bottomed river boats. And the Tennessee Valley Authority is spending $80,000 to try to explain why things got so bad. As yet, TVA has not embraced Garner's theory that pollution is killing the shell fish.

Whatever the trouble, the pig-toe mussel which grows on the Tennessee River bed from Chattanooga to Savannah is the key to Garner's fortunes and that of the industry of which he is a part. Its hard, nearly flawless, white shell has been used in recent years by Japanese growers as seed or nucleus for the cultured pearls produced by their captive oysters.

For some reason, shells from the many other varieties of mussels in the Tennessee, or from pig-toes found in other rivers, seem to lack the qualities needed to promote first-rate pearls. And because mussels look alike to the uninitiated, it takes an experienced eye like Garner's to separate the good from the bad.

When he began musseling 21 years ago, he shipped his shells mostly to Muscatine, Iowa. There, tons of shells were turned into pearl buttons.

By 1955, plastics had popped up, the report said. Production of smoking tobacco for pipes and roll-your-own cigarettes increased about one-sixth. Production of chewing tobacco increased slightly.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Advertising agencies are turning out television commercials at a rate of about 40,000 a year, most of which reach the air. And if some superwoman housewife last year had dedicated herself to watching her set 16 hours a day, seven days a week, she would have been exposed to 115 pearl buttons from the market, as nearly all button manufacturers in Muscatine converted to man-made materials. But the shell game bounced back with the appearance of a new market in the Orient.

The Japanese found that bits of Tennessee pig-toe shell, hand-rolled into tiny balls and inserted into oyster shells, formed a perfect pearl nucleus. The result has been virtually a direct link between the Tennessee River and Japan's Inland Sea. Mussel shell prices rose as high as $180 a ton.

"In good years, I've shipped up to 400 tons of shells to Japan," said Garner. He exports the shells in 25-ton lots, but "this year, I doubt if we've shipped more than 50 tons."

One reason is the price, which currently is quoted at $47 a ton, the result of a backlog of shells in Japanese warehouses.

sales pitches a day. These statistics were gathered by an advertising executive, Gordon Webber, for a speech and reprinted in the current issue of the trade magazine Broadcasting. Webber, however, went on to note that, in normal usage of television, "there are disturbing signs to the effect that while the housewife is looking at some (commercials), there are a few of them she isn't looking at, or having looked at, can't remember."

He reported the results of a recent survey made of one popular hour-long program which carried eight commercials. It found that 21 per cent of a sampling of viewers could not remember any of the commercials; 19 per cent, only one and 17 percent, two.

What was most disturbing to advertisers was the large number of viewers who were not able to remember a single sales message on the show.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bruce Brown, the man who produced "Slippery When Wet," "Barefoot Adventure" and "Waterlogged," presented the world premiere of his latest film "The Endless Summer" this week.

Haven't heard of Bruce Brown or any of those films? You must be an earthbound square, man. Any hotdogger (surfing bug) knows that Bruce Brown is to surfing what John Ford is to Westerns, what Michaelangelo was to ceiling painters.

"The Endless Summer" has sold out four nights this week at the Encore Theater where audiences of tanned, taffy-haired young people and a few elderly types have gasped and cheered at surfer's skidding down Matterhorn-like waves on foam-and-fibre glass boards. It is the sixth annual film of Brown, who went around the world to shoot two young surfers in Senegal, Ghana and other places that had never seen a surfboard.

Brown, 26, and blond, has been riding the crest of the surfing craze that has become a religion for thousands of California teen-agers. Through surfing music and magazines, the fad has spread to other parts of the country.

Brown operates his one-man film industry from his office at Dana Point, 50 miles south, in the heart of the high-wave district. He is his own cameraman and cutter and narrates the action in 100-150 one-night stands per year.

He makes frequent trips to Australia, which is the second most enthusiastic surfing country. Others are France, South Africa, New Zealand and Peru. His films also are shown with a recorded narration, and each can gross as high as $200,000.

No Trouble When Name Is Called

By NORMAN GOLDSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—

"When somebody calls my name, I don't have any trouble finding out who they mean," says the man who claims he has the longest last name in the United States—666 letters, plus 26 given names.

"I like to be unique," says Hubert B. Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergdorff. "I don't like being part of the common herd."

Hubert 47, a Philadelphian of German descent, doesn't use his full name when signing documents—just the first 35 letters.

That's how he is listed with the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., which has to process his policy by hand. The company's giant 7074 computer stops dead when it comes to any identification beyond 35 letters.

Hubert's Social Security card has the "shortened" version—the 44 letters, including Hubert B.—even though it takes up two lines.

Hubert said in an interview that the Army used a clipped and Anglicized version of his moniker when he was drafted in 1942. They just wouldn't go for his full name, which he says is:

Adolph Blaine Charles David Earl Frederick Gerald Hubert Irvin John Kenneth Lloyd Martin Nero Oliver Paul Quincy Randolph Sherman Thomas Uncas Victor William Xerxes Yancy Zeus Wolfeschlegelsteinhausenbergdorffwelchevoralt-ernwarengewissenheitscha-

The senior is to distinguish him from junior.

What's in a name?

In an admittedly loose translation, Hubert says: It tells a story of a wolf-killer, a resident of a stonehouse in a village, whose ancestors were conscientious shepherds whose sheep were well fed and carefully guarded against attack by ferocious enemies and whose ancestors' 1,200,000 years before the first earth man, in a space ship made with tungsten and seven iridium motors and using light as a source of power, started a long journey across interstellar space, searching for a star around which was an inhabitable planet where they could establish a new race of intelligent mankind and here they would live long, happy lives and be free from attack by other intelligencia from the outer space from whence they came.

Hubert, a linotype operator, has a wife, Constance, and two sons, Hubert, etc., etc., Jr. and Timothy Wayne etc. etc.

Giants Gain Lead by Licking Dodgers Again

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy O'Dell has a pain in his neck and the Los Angeles Dodgers hurt every time they look at the National League standings.

O'Dell, sidelined most of the season with the neck ailment, put the crimp on a ninth inning Dodger rally Sunday and preserved a 1-0 San Francisco victory which vaulted the Giants into the league lead and dumped the world champion Dodgers into ninth place.

Ron Herbel blanked the Dodgers for eight innings before the Giants got a run off Don Drysdale on two hits, a walk and Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly. Herbel needed just three more outs for the victory. He didn't get any of them.

Ron Fairly and Frank Howard opened the Dodger ninth with singles and Giant Manager Alvin Dark lifted Herbel. O'Dell came on and when John Roseboro bunted for a hit loading the bases, Billy might've wished he was any place except the Candlestick Park mound.

But O'Dell blew down and led Jim Gilliam a slider which the Dodger infielder popped up. Finch hitter Lee Walls fanned on a fast ball and Maury Wills bounced out, leaving the three runners stranded.

The Phillies slipped to second in a disastrous 8-2 nightcap loss to the Cardinals after Chris Short hurled a five-hit shutout winning the opener 5-0.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee swept two from New York 7-6 and 9-0; Cincinnati ended a five-game Pittsburgh winning streak with a double victory, 6-2 and 6-5 and Chicago and Houston split, the Cubs winning the first game 10-2 and the Colts taking the nightcap 4-1 in 10 innings.

In the American League, Boston swept two from Cleveland 8-3 and 4-3; New York and Detroit split with the Yankees taking the opener 8-6 and the Tigers the nightcap 6-5; Baltimore nipped Washington 6-4; Minnesota whacked Chicago 9-3 and Kansas City blanked Los Angeles 4-0.

The Giant run came in the eighth after singles by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays and an intentional walk to Duke Snider loaded the bases.

Canada cracked a Drysdale pitch deep to right field and Howard made a spectacular catch saving an extra base hit. But Jesus Alou, running for Kuenn, scored after he caught, giving Herbel O'Dell and the Giants the run they needed.

The Phillies made six errors in the second game and the Cards unleashed a 14-hit attack, four of them by Bill White, for the second game victory. Short overcame three Philadelphia errors for his first game victory.

The Braves scored six runs in the first inning against Met rookie Darrell Sutherland and then held off a late New York rally for their first game victory. Ron Hunt had four hits for the Mets.

In the second game, Rico Carty and Hank Aaron rimmed three-run homers and Tony Cloninger fired a six-hitter to beat Frank Lary.

Pete Rose stroked three straight singles to pace Cincinnati's first game victory. The Reds' second baseman had a string of seven straight hits broken when reliever Roy Face fanned him in the fifth inning. Cincinnati pounded five Pirate pitchers for 11 hits in the opener.

The Reds completed the sweep exploding for five runs in the third inning and then holding off a late Pirate surge paced by homers by Willie Stargell and Jim Pazziaroni.

Chicago got home run power from Ernie Banks, Billy Cowan and Dick Bertell to make Bob Buhl's ninth victory easy against the Colts in the opener. John Bateman and Walt Bond connected for Houston.

Ron Santo tied up the nightcap with a two-out homer in the ninth but the Colts won it with three runs in the 10th, two of them on Bond's second homer of the day.

Braves Deny Spahn Will Be Traded

O'Hara Wins AAU Track, Field Event

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Skinny Tom O'Hara, the pale Chicagoan who thrives on peanut butter sandwiches and looks as though a stiff Windy City breeze would blow him clear across Lake Michigan, has finally given the back of his freckled Irish hand—and heels—to his arch-rival, Dyrrol Burleson. Like a playful leprechaun pulling a sudden disappearing act, O'Hara gave Burleson a slight sniff of victory and then pulled away down the stretch for a record-smashing 1,500-meter triumph Sunday at the National AAU Track and Field Championships.

In six previous meetings—four at a mile and two at 1,500 meters—Burleson had never tasted defeat from O'Hara. But the lanky Oregonian couldn't match red-haired Tom's finishing kick this time as O'Hara pounded home in 3:38.1, an American record and the equivalent of a 3:55.1 mile.

O'Hara, Burleson, Jim Grelle and gangling Jim Ryan, the incredible 17-year-old Wichita, Kan., schoolboy, all bettered the American mark of 3:39.3 set only three weeks ago by Cary Weisiger. Burleson's time was 3:38.8, Grelle's 3:38.9 and Ryan's 3:39 and Weisiger himself could do no better than 3:40.9, good for eighth place.

The two-day meet gave America's Olympic hopefuls a chance to qualify for the trials in New York next weekend. The first six Americans in each event who had not previously qualified won the right to compete in the Olympic trials and the first two will face Russia in a dual meet at Los Angeles next month.

The meet also produced a near miss in an attempt at a pole vault record by 17-footer Fred Hansen and knocked ace sprinter Bob Hayes out of the Olympic trials.

Most events ran according to form, but 30-year-old Mike Larabee, a California teacher, provided a major upset in the 400 meters as he and two others outran world record-holder Adolph Plummer and favored Uli Williams. Larabee and under-20 Ollan Cassell both were clocked in 46 seconds.

Saturday, with darkness rapidly closing in on Rutgers University Stadium, Hansen tried and narrowly failed three times to vault 17 feet 6 inches. Each time Hansen seemed to go over the crossbar but hit it with his chest on the way down and jarred it loose.

Hansen's 17-foot leap was only the fourth time he magic mark has been cleared and was the third time his month the 23-year-old Rice University graduate has done it.

The 100 meters presented U.S. Olympic officials with a minor problem and likely solution. Hayes, only man ever to run 100 yards in 9.1, pulled a hamstring muscle high in his left thigh near the end of his 10.3 sprint victory and announced he would skip the New York trials.

Olympic officials had no immediate comment but there was little doubt they would exercise their right to make special provisions in such cases and invite Hayes to the final trials in September.

A complete physical examination, conditioning, proper coaching and proper protective equipment are listed as the most important factors in preventing football injuries.

some sports writer's imagination," said Mathews. "It's not only ridiculous but pitiful. I bet the writer a steak that it was a lie."

Mathews has been hitting well lately, getting three hits in seven times up in Sunday's twin victories over the Mets. He and Spahn are the only survivors of the original team which moved here from Boston in 1953.

Spahn remarked, "I don't know what's ahead so I'm not going to say anything." However, the 43-year-old veteran pitcher insisted he was far from being through as some have claimed.

"I wouldn't be here if I thought otherwise and you can bet on that," he said. "Physically, I feel great. That's all I'm going to say."

"It sounds like something someone dreamed up," said Braves President John McHale. "This club will never trade Spahn."

Yanks, Tigers Split; Orioles Extend Lead

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Allison hasn't done much broken field running since his college football days but he's leading a merry chase today.

The former Kansas fullback is showing his heels to the American League.

Allison cracked a single and his 20th home run in the Twins' 9-3 victory over Chicago Sunday, extending a consecutive game hitting streak to 19 and lifting his batting average to .340, tops in the AL.

Allison's season average has zoomed 50 points, from .290, during the burst. He has hit seven homers and as many doubles, driven in 11 runs and scored 14 for a league-leading total of 55.

After Zoilo Versalles' eighth homer snapped a 3-3 tie in the seventh inning, Harmon Killebrew preceded Allison's shot with a two-run 410-foot wallop—his 27th—into the bleachers.

Elsewhere, Baltimore extended its winning streak to six games and its league lead to four with a 6-4 victory over Washington while second place New York divided a doubleheader with Detroit. The Yanks took the opener 8-6, the Tigers the nightcap 6-5.

Boston swept a pair from Cleveland 8-5 and 4-3 and Kansas City blanked Los Angeles 4-0 in a single game.

San Francisco grabbed the National League lead by nipping Los Angeles 1-0 while Philadelphia split with St. Louis, winning 5-0 and losing 8-2. The Phils trail the Giants by .002 percentage points. Cincinnati won two from Pittsburgh 6-2 and 6-5; Chicago beat Houston 10-2 before losing 4-1 and Milwaukee topped New York twice, 7-6 and 9-0.

Minnesota scored six runs in all during the seventh inning uprising, assuring reliever Al Worthington, who joined the club only a few days ago, of his first American League victory.

The White Sox did all their scoring in the sixth on four singles and a hit batsman. Gerry McNerney drove in two runs and Dave Nicholson the other.

The Orioles sent Washington reeling to its sixth straight loss by pushing over a pair of unearned runs in the eighth. John Kennedy booted a grounder and Don Lock dropped a fly ball after Brooks Robinson's leadoff single. Willie Kirkland drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and the other scored on Lock's miscue.

Tom Tresh hit a grand slam homer in the eighth inning of the opener as the Yanks overtook the Tigers. Two homers by Don Demeter and another by Dick McAuliffe had powered Detroit to an early 6-2 lead.

Gates Brown's seventh inning homer broke up the nightcap after the Tigers blew a 5-2 advantage. Joe Sparrma relieved starter Mickey Lolich in the sixth, stopped the Yanks the rest of the way and picked up his first major league verdict.

Felix Mantilla hit two homers in the Boston-Cleveland opener, Frank Malone slugged a pair in the second game and Dick Radatz came out of the bullpen twice to save Red Sox victories.

Cleveland's Leon Wagner hit his 16th and 17th homers in his first game. Al Smith and Dick Donovan connected for the Indians in the afterpiece.

Two unearned runs and Diego Segui's five-hit pitching helped the Athletics stymie the no-longer hot Angels. After Lenny Green dropped a fly ball in the first inning, Manny Jimenez doubled a run home and Bill Bryan followed with a triple.

Nelson Mathews homered for the A's as Los Angeles dropped its second straight after an 11-game winning string.

Mira Stars as East Wins Over West

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—George Mira, the fast draw of Miami, may be the hottest new name in football before the new season is over.

Mira definitely was the most exciting performer in the All-American Game Saturday night, when he passed the East to an 18-15 victory over the West.

The 21,112 fans left War Memorial Stadium raving about Mira's strong arm, accurate passes and daring running.

The kid from Key West, Fla., put on a tremendous show in the second-half, throwing for one touchdown and setting up two more.

Horse Race of Year Is Shaping Up

By ORLO ROBERTSON

The horse race of the year is shaping up for July 4 with the 78th running of the $100,000-added Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct.

The line-up for the 1¼-mile event will not be determined until owners and trainers confer after looking over the weights to be announced today.

But the field of 10 or so is expected to include Kelso, Oden Times, Iron Peg, Garwol, Smart and a pair of 3-year-olds—Quadrangle and Malicious. No 3-year-old has won the second leg of New York's handicap Triple Crown since Crusader in 1926.

Kelso, winner in 1961 and last year with 133 pounds up each time and second in 1962 with 132 pounds, probably will be handicapper Tommy Trotter's choice to carry top weight.

Also scheduled for the July 4 card are such rich events as the $50,000-added American Handicap at Hollywood Park and the $40,000-added Stars and Stripes Handicap at Arlington Park.

Each is at 1¼ miles with the Arlington race on the turf.

Last Saturday's feature races saw favorites falling by the wayside for the most part except in the $22,000 Diamond State Handicap at Delaware Park in which there was no betting. Mongo, 1963 grass course champion, returned to competition after a two-month layoff and easily beat three rivals.

Dandy K., a trailer in the Kentucky Derby, ran back to his fine workouts and beat favored Roman Brother, runner-up in the Belmont Stakes, by 2½ lengths in the $115,000 Chicagoan at Arlington Park. He paid $10.

Lt. Stevens ran in his first stakes race after five straight victories and accounted for the $29,300 Saranac Handicap at Aqueduct for a $10.30 payoff.

Close By, rated at the start of the season as Rex Ellsworth's best 3-year-old, finally came through in taking the $57,250 Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park. He returned $12.

long hard look at Mr. Mira. The 5-foot-11 passer has been called too small for the pros.

Critics claim he wouldn't find his targets, behind the rush of the whales who man pro defensive lines. They are having second thoughts today.

Carl Eller (257 pounds) of Minnesota, Scott Appleton (245) of Texas, and Lloyd Voss (250) of Nebraska are high priced, highly regarded pro rookie linemen.

They manned the middle of the West line but Mira hit with 14 of 20 passes in the second half and an over-all total of 21 of 40 for 306 yards.

"I never played against men as big as the West team," Mira said. "It was a real test and I am glad I passed it. I had no trouble seeing my receivers. I think I was able to prove something to myself—that size alone won't bother me."

After I ate I went back to the B&B.

Eddie Sales was out front mixing with the customers. He came over when I sat down and bought me a drink.

Nick Potti came and went down to the other end of the bar. "That's him," Eddie Sales said.

"That's him," I agreed. "His name is Nick Potti and he's from Cleveland. He's a big man in the gun business. He usually does it only for money, but he's short tempered and I wouldn't push him if I were you."

"You're exaggerating?" he guessed.

I shook my head. "Not a bit. And there's another one around. A tall, slim guy with straw-colored hair. Calls everybody 'baby'. Maybe you've seen him."

"He hasn't been in here. What do they want up here?"

"Me. But not right at the moment. So you don't have to worry about your place being shot up."

"You a cop?" he asked.

"No, I said. Tell me, what do I do around here if I want to put a few bucks on a horse?"

"Most booking goes through Newburgh, but there's a guy who comes in here every day about noon and picks up bets. Numbers money, too. He stops at all the bars around."

"Okay," I said. "I told you I wasn't a cop. It's true. But I work for an insurance company and I have a permit to carry this gun. I'm looking for a man. My friend over there doesn't want me to find him. It's simple as that."

"Who's he work for?"

"The Carrier Workers Union of America."

He whistled under his breath. "I wouldn't say too much about that around here. The place is full of members and they swear by Clark."

I was up early the next morning and left the motel immediately. Nick must've thought I'd sleep later, for he wasn't in sight. I headed toward Newburgh and kept going until I came to the state police barracks. I drove in and parked.

Inside, I faced a stiff-backed young Sergeant. "I'd like to see the officer who's in charge," I said.

"That's Lieutenant Pillius," he said. He looked me over carefully. "Do you have a permit for that gun you're carrying?"

"Sure," I said. I fished it out of my pocket and handed it to him.

He looked it over and glanced at me to see if I looked like the photograph.

He picked up the phone. "There's a private detective from New York City who wants to see you. He won't say what it's about. He's carrying a gun just like a real cop." He listened, then hung up. "The first door on the right."

The lieutenant was seated at a desk. He was a tall, lean man with that starched look that all state cops seem to have.

"You're the private detective?" he asked.

"That's what it says on my license," I said. "The name is Milo March. I'm an insurance investigator." I took out my identification and showed it to him.

"What do you want?"

"I'm looking for a man. I think he may be in this area and has been for almost seven years. I wanted to find out if you know anyone who looks like the photo."

"Let's see it."

I took out the photograph of Rako and put it on the desk. He studied it for a minute. "He looks faintly familiar," he said finally, "but I can't place it. Is he on a wanted list?"

"He was. He was a witness before a Congressional committee seven years ago—a hearing on the Carrier Workers union. He disappeared the night of the first hearing."

"And you need the gun to take him back? Or do you wear it to feel big?"

"I wear it so that cops will have something to talk about when they meet me," I said evenly.

His face got a little darker. "Leave the photograph," he said curtly, "and your address. If any of my men find him we'll let you know."

"I need the photograph," I said, "and I'll find him myself. I thought you might know him. You don't and that's all there is to it. Thanks for everything. Lieutenant, including the rather psychoanalysis of why I carry a gun."

"One more thing, March," he said harshly as I turned to go. "Don't start anything in my district."

"I don't plan on starting anything," I told him. "I do intend to finish a few things. If you're a good boy I might give you the credit for it."

Blue Cross, Shield Pays Out Record

Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield paid $12,500,000.00 for member benefits during the year ending March 31, 1964. This was announced by Sam M. Butler, Executive Director of the Plan at a combined sales and employee meeting last week in Little Rock. "This is a record high for Arkansas," Butler stated. "It means that we returned to our members in the form of health care 93 cents out of every dollar of income."

"We are a community service organization," Butler continued. "We operate to serve the public—and not to make a profit. We required only seven cents out of every dollar of income last year to operate Arkansas Blue Cross and Blue Shield. This compares to an average of 40 cents which the commercial plans require to operate. The difference in cost of operation points up the fact that we are keeping faith with our members and the public."

Butler noted that the Arkansas Plan has the lowest cost of operation of any Blue Cross and Blue Shield organization in the South Central region. Butler said, "This is why we can proudly say that we give our members the best help available for paying hospital and doctor Called the 'Silver Shoes Award' the honor signifies that Mr. Turner has personally dedicated his dealership facilities and personnel to the highest standards of quality new car sales and service."

Dorsey Plans to See 30,000

WRIGHT, Ark. (AP)—Democratic gubernatorial candidate Odell Dorsey said Sunday that he plans to shake hands with 30,000 persons next month in an effort to "stir up some interest" in the Democratic primary election.

Dorsey said he had been told that there is little interest in state politics, even though the primary is near. The election will be held July 28.

Dorsey said he would ask each of the 30,000 voters with whom he shakes hands to get five friends who are weary of the present administration to vote for him.

"The voter who doesn't have at least five friends who are weary of our present administration is a rare person indeed," Dorsey said. "I find more and more weariness and dissatisfaction as I travel over the state."

Dorsey addressed a meeting of the Arkansas Chapter of the Flying Farmers of America at a flyin at Wright in Jefferson County.

Ten Fatal Accidents in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Allen Blocker, 2, son of Mrs. Elaine Blocker of Hot Springs, drowned Sunday while wading in Lake Hamilton near Hot Springs.

Garland County Deputy Sheriff Marvin Teague said the child was playing in shallow water with a group of other children. Mrs. Blocker looked up and saw him lying face-down in the water, Teague said.

He said the mother administered artificial respiration until an ambulance arrived and doctors at a Hot Springs hospital worked more than 1½ hours attempting to revive the child.

Joe Hadley, 23, of Hickory Ridge, drowned Sunday while swimming in Taylor Bay of the White River near Augusta.

Woodruff County Sheriff Val Angelo said Hadley was swimming with a companion to a diving tower at Augusta Beach and started to return to the beach. He went under before he could reach the beach, Hadley said.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL

Amendment No. 53

(Legislative)

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election, adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

"SECTION 1. The first unnumbered paragraph of Section 4 of Article 12 of the Constitution is hereby amended to read as follows: 'No municipal corporation shall be authorized to pass any laws contrary to the general laws of the State; and, except as otherwise specifically authorized by amendments to the Constitution, no municipal corporation shall be authorized to levy any tax on real or personal property to a greater extent, in one year, than one per cent of the assessed value of the same.'"

"SECTION 2. Section 9 of Article 16 of the Constitution is hereby amended to read as follows: 'Except as otherwise specifically authorized by amendments to the Constitution, no county shall levy any tax on real or personal property to a greater extent, in one year, than one per cent of the assessed value of the same; provided however, that not less than three-eighths of the amount of any such tax shall, as specified by the county tax levying authority, be used exclusively for the construction, reconstruction and maintenance of roads and bridges in the County Highway System.'"

"SECTION 3. Amendments No. 3, 22 and 27 to the Constitution are hereby repealed."

"SECTION 4. The provisions of this amendment shall take effect and be in full force on and after November 4, 1964."

Against Tax Repeal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Arkansas Sens. J. William Fulbright and John L. McClellan voted Thursday against an amendment which would repeal the 10 per cent retail tax on furs, jewelry, and luggage—excluding furs and jewelry costing more than $100. The measure, an amendment to an excise tax extension bill, passed 48-38 on a roll-call vote.

Blane West, 8, of Rogers was killed and his father, John R. West critically injured when their car hit a bridge on U.S. 71 near Bentonville Sunday. A brother of the dead child, Denver West, 9, suffered a broken leg.

John R. West was hospitalized at Bentonville.

The Sunday deaths brought the total of accidental weekend fatalities to 10. Six other persons died in traffic and one died in a fire.

Four persons died Saturday when a car and a pickup truck collided head-on on Arkansas 25, four miles west of Light.

State Trooper Charles Danley identified the victims as Kid Reeves, 53, of Hoxie, the driver of the car; his wife, Violet, 44, their son, Rick, 4, and Rhonda Welch, 14, of Hoxie, a passenger in the pickup truck.

Mrs. Marie Myers, 36, of Leola, died Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of Arkansas 22 and 96, ten miles east of Fort Smith.

V. V. Donald, 59, of Judsonia, was killed Saturday when the pickup truck he was driving left U.S. 65, eight miles south of Clinton and overturned.

William T. Hill, 33, died Saturday when fire destroyed his frame home in the Oppelo Community six miles south of Morrilton.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL

(Legislative)

That the following is hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, and upon being submitted to the electors of the State for approval or rejection at the next general election for Representatives and Senators, if a majority of the electors voting thereon, at such an election, adopt such amendment, the same shall become a part of the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, to-wit:

"SECTION 1. The General Assembly shall have the power to provide by general laws for the establishment and operation (a) of industrial districts for the purpose of securing and developing industry, and (b) of hospital districts for the purpose of acquiring, constructing, reconstructing or extending hospitals. The land boundaries of the respective said districts shall be fixed in the manner provided by the General Assembly."

"SECTION 2. The said districts shall have such powers pertaining to the respective purposes aforesaid and may exercise the same in such manner as shall be provided by the General Assembly, including without limitation power to issue bonds and to levy taxes upon the taxable real and personal property in said districts, upon approval thereof by a majority of the qualified electors of said district voting thereon at an election called for such purpose. Provided, however, there shall never be levied a tax on the taxable real and personal property; (a) of any industrial district which, together with any tax levied under the provisions of Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution, shall exceed five (5) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation thereof; or (b) of any hospital district, which, together with any tax levied under the provisions of Amendment No. 17 to the Constitution, shall exceed five (5) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation thereof, except that, the full said five (5) mills being levied under Amendment No. 17, the said hospital district may levy an additional tax of not to exceed one (1) mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of the taxable real and personal property in said hospital district. Provided further, that the total taxes levied under this Amendment and under Amendment No. 49 to the Constitution on the taxable real and personal property in any hospital district shall never exceed five (5) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation thereof, and the total taxes levied under this Amendment and under Amendment No. 17 to the Constitution on the taxable real and personal property in any hospital district shall never exceed five (5) mills on the dollar of the assessed valuation thereof."

"SECTION 3. To such extent and in such manner as the General Assembly may provide, taxes collected under Amendment No. 32 to the Constitution on the taxable real and personal property in any hospital district shall be used for maintaining, operating and supporting district hospitals."
